DESIGN PROPOSAL FOR
GREENHILL PARK NEIGHBOURHOOD CENTRE

VISION & OPPORTUNITY

Greenhill Park presents an ideal location for a high quality, well-designed and vibrant neighbourhood centre, with strong connections between community, location and architecture. Precedents from successful international and domestic developments have been studied to ensure every aspect of the new centre has been considered in depth.

Meaningful, smart design that addresses the social, environmental and cultural opportunities, enables positive exchanges between the community and architecture. Greenhill Park has been designed to invoke a sense of organic growth and individuality in design that engages with the community, making an attractive and desirable centre for this suburb, and the wider Hamilton.

KEY ATTRIBUTES

Materiality: High quality materials and design thinking has been at the forefront in the creation of a neighbourhood centre with a strong sense of individuality. Each building has unique detailing while maintaining a common palette throughout the scope.

Un-programmed spaces: Alley ways and foot paths have been used to activate the Greenhill Park neighbourhood centre. Through soft and hard landscaping with intentional places to rest, these well-considered spaces guide the public towards and through the heart of the centre.

Community: Each new project is an opportunity to bring together the community to produce the highest quality outcome. A way to create a desirable centre to enhance the overall scope of the Greenhill development. At the foundation, architecture is a collaborative design process between people and place.
